

President Greg Hipple

It is almost summertime here in the Midwest. The time of year when the cows are on pastures, crops are growing, hay making will soon be underway, and everything is outdoors --even the bugs. It is a busy time, yet fun and enjoyable. There is so much going on.

Somewhere, someone you know is having a great year. Somewhere, someone else is having their worst year ever. Life seems to be like that, as is farming. Agriculture, more specifically animal agriculture, has a way of humbling us on a regular basis. Year-after-year, the anticipation seems to increase, those mating selections made last year, did they turn out? Your decision to move up or to delay the start of calving for better weather, did that pan out for you? What about your goal of that elusive 100% calf crop?

© Journeys End Farm (ME)

Your Council has made some decisions that will go into effect January 1, 2018 that they feel are the right decisions to move the breed forward, and more importantly, to preserve and protect the integrity and genetics of this historic heritage breed. We, as members of the Belted Galloway Society, need to understand these simple changes that will be going into place, support the reasons they were enacted, and be willing to reap the benefits they will bring to all of us.

As the final details are worked out, the U.S. Beltie News will cover in detail the DNA and hypotrichosis testing requirements. Please stay tuned.

Like I mentioned previously, it seems to be a very hectic world right now. I often struggle to find the peace that has always drawn me to agriculture and specifically Belted Galloway cattle. As I did chores this morning and was pondering how I was going to put my thoughts for this month to paper, watching the cows with their calves in the pasture, the bottle calf that nudged me after I fed him his morning bottle was a gentle reminder.

The Belted Galloway Journal is an annual publication of the Belted Galloway Society. The Journal has become the breed's most valuable marketing literature. The Journal is distributed at state and county fairs, regional beef expos, national livestock shows, and anywhere the Belted Galloway Society can promote the breed!

We believe:

- Belted Galloway cattle are the best suited beef breed for a growing population of individuals who are interested in living a rural lifestyle and raising tender and nutritious beef.
- Belties are a beef breed that is ideal for small acreage beef production because of their moderate size plus their utilization of grasses more efficiently.
- Belted Galloway cattle are a BEAUTIFUL breed.

The Belted Galloway Society is committed to:

- Promote the Belted Galloway breed of cattle.
- Preserve the purity of the breed.
- Provide mentoring opportunities to our youth

2017 ANNUAL MEETING
in MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

The Great Lakes Belted Galloway Association was established in 1992 to show Belted Galloway cattle at World Beef Expo. It is an exciting milestone to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Belted Galloway breed that has been continuously exhibited at World Beef Expo! To honor the Great Lakes Belted Galloway Association and the Belted Galloway Show at World Beef Expo, the Belted Galloway Society is holding the Annual General Meeting in Milwaukee, Wisconsin September 21-24, 2017.

Accommodations for the event will be at the Hampton Inn & Suites Milwaukee West, State Fair Park Conference Center, 8201 West Greenfield Avenue, West Allis, Wisconsin. Phone (414) 436-2300. Rooms are $119. The deadline for this rate is August 18, 2017. Ask for Belted Galloway.

Each year people from around the country visit Milwaukee for one of the Midwest's largest cattle expositions – World Beef Expo. Over four hundred exhibitors from 16 states displayed, exhibited, or sold cattle at the 2016 World Beef Expo.

During Expo 2017, more than two dozen breed shows will take place. In addition to the open and junior Cattle shows, World Beef Expo will offer a wide variety of activities. A multi-breed and club calf sale, the Supreme Champion Cattle Drive (a spectacular event showcasing the best of the best), top-notch educational seminars, an indoor/outdoor trade show, plus a youth sweepstakes contest, will round out the schedule of activities at the venue.

Are you interested in consigning an animal to the multi-breed sale? Both live, semen, and embryo lots may be consigned to the Midwest National Belted Galloway Sale through Larry Martin Cattle Sales. Forms may be accessed at larrymartinlivestock.com or worldbeefexpo.com. Entries are due August 1. For more information please contact Greg Hipple (319) 430-6664 or Larry Martin (217) 433-0242. Cattle do not have to be shown to sell but must be halter broken.

People of all ages are welcome to view, show, buy and sell cattle, while enjoying a weekend of fun with friends and family! All events are open to the public. We invite you to join the Belted Galloway fun at the 2017 World Beef Expo!

About Classifieds

- ◆ Your classified's required contact information — name, farm, location, phone and email. All classified ads are automatically placed on beltie.org with a two-month limit on classified insertions. Photos are $10 placed on beltie.org only.
- ◆ Email ads to executivedirector@beltie.org or by fax (608) 527-4811 or phone (608) 220-1091. We encourage members to submit ads the last two weeks of the month.
- ◆ About bulls ... Before advertising a young male be sure he is well conformed, tracks properly, has good legs and feet, and exhibits good weight gains. We should have data available on his birth weight, 205-day weaning weight, and yearling weight. If he's reached breeding age (around 18 months), it's definitely a plus to have his semen checked for quantity and motility, and uniform scrotal development (two normal sized testicles). Any data available should appear in your advertisement along with his birth date and the names of his sire and dam. It is required that registration numbers be included on bulls advertised for sale in the classifieds.

Reminders

- The Belted Galloway Society is seeking editorials to produce the 2017 Belted Galloway Journal. Please contact Jon Bednarski at info@sherwoodacresbeef.com or (502) 649-8706.
- Cattle may be registered online. Log on to www2.clrc.ca and establish your online account.
- Transfers of Belted Galloway cattle (already registered) must be submitted by mail. It is a requirement that the original registration paper must accompany the transfer documents.
- Lease agreements for junior members must be on file with the CLRC by July 1, 2017.
- All bulls will be required to be DNA and hypotrichosis tested prior to being registered that are born on January 1, 2018 or after. As of January 1, 2018 all donor dams must be hypotrichosis tested along with the required DNA testing. All semen used after January 1, 2018 (unless previously exempted) must be hypotrichosis tested.
- DNA and hypotrichosis testing is handled through the Society office. To request the paperwork to initiate the testing, contact Vic at executivedirector@beltie.org.

Community of Breeders

James and Kathleen Gleason of Orion Farm in Henniker, New Hampshire were new to the Belted Galloway breed when they lost their home in a fire. Luckily, the Gleasons and their four children were not home at the time. Jim shared this story:

My family and I are new to the Belted Galloway breed and newly-minted members of the New England Galloway Group. We have a story to share about what it means to be a member of the New England Galloway Group.

On August 5, 2016, we lost our home to fire. It is the only home our four children have ever known. The good news is that none of us were home at the time so there were no physical injuries.

Two days after our home burned I was in a pasture stringing electric fencing to be charged by a generator I borrowed from a friend. Much to my initial consternation, I was interrupted by my clanging cellphone. Calling was Heidi Baker, herd manager at the well-known Aldermere Farm in Maine. She was calling to tell me, not ask me, that she was coming to pick-up my family's Belties so that I would not have to deal with them after the fire. I protested that we could manage and there was certainly no reason for her to spend six or more hours of round trip hauling a stock trailer to save my family some inconvenience. As we concluded our conversation, I felt satisfied that we had effectively communicated. Apparently, we had not. The next morning, while I was at work, I received another telephone call from Heidi Baker indicating that Richard and Susan Paul of Partridge Meadow Farm in Westmoreland, New Hampshire, were enroute with stock trailer in tow to pick up my family's Bel-ties and deliver them to Maine. Heidi politely suggested, as only she can, that the courteous thing for me to do would be to help Richard and Susan load the Belties. Heidi, I discovered, can be "persuasive". I left work and headed to Orion Farm. Richard and Susan Paul were already backed up to the barn paddock getting ready to load some Belties. They explained they were going to tow the Belties two and a half hours east to a location in Maine where they would meet Heidi Baker and her trailer. In no time at all the Belties were headed to Maine. (How much fun would it have been to watch the Belties being transferred from a Partridge Meadow Farm trailer to an Aldermere Farm trailer in the middle of a rest area off a busy interstate? That could be a story for another time).

It is particularly noteworthy that I never called Heidi Baker, Susan and Richard Paul or anyone to complain about our home fire. Heidi Baker, Richard and Susan Paul simply took charge and made life a whole lot simpler for another Beltie farm. I can tell you that being burned out of a home is emotionally traumatic. I can also tell you that it creates a little bit of inconvenience in life. For darn sure I can tell you though that people like Heidi, Richard and Susan can rekindle faith in mankind and uplift some spirits. Their response and genuine concern were humbling, appreciated, and not soon forgotten.

I am beginning to suspect that there just might be something to this sense of community that Beltie breeders promote.
