

Dustin James New England Galloway Group

The 2018 Fryeburg Fair, held in Fryeburg, Maine, hosted the 50th annual Belted Galloway show on October 2, 2018. In record-setting fashion, 28 exhibitors brought together a total of 114 Belted Galloway cattle for a spectacular event. A large crowd of spectators gathered in the livestock arena on a chilly Tuesday morning. From the very first heifer calf class through the two-year-old bulls, this show was loaded with depth and most importantly quality. During the show, fair president Roy Andrews presented beef superintendent and BGS Council member, Randy Hall (ME) with an award for his long-time efforts of organizing and overseeing the show at Fryeburg Fair.

During the Grand Champion Heifer selection, in front of a packed arena, judge Emily Griffith of Nebraska, stated, "This was an awe-struck kind of representation. We've had great numbers; you can measure that. You can't measure the quality." Moments later, the humbled Griffith went on to select Journey's End Dina, owned by the Romani Family (RI) as her Grand Champion Female. Aldermere Elizabeth, owned by the Maine Coast Heritage Trust (ME) was named the Reserve Champion Female.

Following the heifer show, the bulls took center stage. Blown away by the quality exhibited, Griffith went on to remark, "Some people don't really understand that these are still good cattle, they are not an ornamental breed, they are an important part of the beef industry just like all the other breeds that are represented here at the Fryeburg Fair, so certainly don't get that confused and don't let anyone tell you that that's the case." What a powerful statement and a true testament to our breed. Griffith went on to select Oatley's Farm Sambuca, owned by Ethan Oatley (RI) as her Grand Champion Bull and Holbrook Hill Dylan Thomas, owned by Dan & Lanci Costain (ME) as her Reserve Champion Bull.

A parade of group classes followed the bull show with Aldermere Farm (ME) receiving the Best Six Head award to close out the afternoon. To cap off a historic week for the Belted Galloway breed, Oatley's Farm Sambuca went on to once again be named the Supreme Champion Bull of All Beef Breeds on Thursday night in front of a maximum capacity crowd who celebrated with a standing ovation. This is the first time in history that a bull has been named Supreme Champion of Fryeburg Fair two years in a row. This year was undoubtedly a Fryeburg Fair that our breed will not soon forget.

12th World Galloway Congress — Melbourne, Australia

Receiving country flags from organizer Anne Wilson

Past President Jon Bednarski

The 12th World Galloway Congress was held in Melbourne, Australia September 29-October 3, 2018. Nine countries were represented in the opening flag ceremony, and nearly 100 delegates attended the event.

Attending along with me from the Belted Galloway Society were, my wife Sylvia, Andy and Mary LeMaistre from Maine and Jim Clementz from Ohio. The busy six-day schedule took us to The Royal Melbourne Show, three Belted Galloway farms and several Galloway farms, or as Aussie's call them, "stations." Also tours of a winery, chocolate factory, wildlife sanctuary, and a distillery.

Two farms that caught my interest were Warialda Belted Beef and Glenthompson Pastoral Estate. Warialda is owned by Lizette and Allen Snaith. They direct market beef and get carcass yields of over 75 percent by working with their own butcher to produce some very unique products that you won't find in the United States. A cutting demonstration and special lunch was prepared for our group.

Glenthompson Pastoral Estate was the second farm of particular interest. That farm was over 8,000 acres and home to 7,000 sheep, and over 150 head of Belted Galloways in three different calving herds, and several hundred Angus cattle. Glenthompson Pastoral Estate is owned by Ted and Lou Mann and has been in the same family for three generations.

Australia has been in a multi-year drought but received some rain during our tour. They are in opposite seasons to the U.S., so all the flowering trees and tulips were in bloom I presented a video presentation of the 2020 World Galloway Congress to be held in November at NAILE in Louisville, Kentucky.

Much of our itinerary is already in place for the 2020 event, but final details will be firmed up over the next 24 months. We are in hopes that many of our own BGS members will attend this unique event.

After personally attending four World Galloway Congress events, the friendships made and the networking opportunities are invaluable. It's been 16 years since the United States held the event in conjunction with the 2004 World Beef Expo.

Many of the International Delegates are looking forward to returning to our country. If you have any questions or would like to support the 2020 World Galloway Congress in any way, please email me at info@sherwoodacresbeef.com.
